Ex-Senator Walter A. Watson, of Nottoway, who has been on duty at Demoheadquarters during the greater part of the campaign, left night with a view to taking part in the fight in the active Fourth District. Mr. Watson has been a most valuable assistant to Secretary Button, and has had charge of the assign ment of speakers. Before leaving yesterday he pretty well cleared up his work, and arranged a great number of new ap pointments. The canvass will be red-ho from now until election-day, and there will be speaking almost daily in every section of the State. Several of the Democratic leaders in the Fourth Disgard the outlook as most encouraging. Mr. Epes is making an active canvass, devoting as much time to it as the duties of his office will permit, and the people of the district are thoroughly aroused.

BOLTER LAWYERS IN CONFERENCE. A good many of the lawyers from different sections of the State, employed by the Bolters to aid in the effort to carry Virginia for McKinley and in the election of Republicans to Congress, were in the city yesterday and the day before. The object of their visit was to confer with the gene-tal counsel of the Holters and the anti-Democratic leaders with reference to the plans to be pursued in this unusual feature of the cumpaign. Another purpose that these legal political lights had in assembling themselves together was to receive reports as to the existing conditions, and where the most effective work can be done to get votes against Bryan. The "spotter" and "affidavit" scheme, The "spotter" and "affidavit" scheme, which has been explained in the Dispaten, was further considered, and it will be worked for all that it is worth. The Boiters insist that they will only have "tally keepers," and that the affidavits will be voluntary, or, in other words, that if a voter prefers not to say how he has voted, he will not be ursed to so, But will. he will not be urged to do so. UNCLE DAVY SPEAKS.

MR. RICHARDSON ADDRESSES THE BRYAN AND SEWALL CLUB.

ROASTS BOLTERS AND REPUBLICANS.

Splendid Defence of the Demoerntic Platform-Heavy Onslaught Upon Trusts-Followed in a Fine Speech by Charles M. Wallace, Jr.

"Uncle Davy" Richardson and Mr Charles M. Wallace, Jr., were the speakers at the weekly meeting of the Bryan and Sewall club at Sanger Hall last night. Both made excellent speeches, and warmed the enthusiasm of the 250 Democrats present. It was an appreciative, sympathetic, and intelligent audience which greeted them and frequently applauded their patriotic utterances. The meeting was presided over by Mr. W. A. Dunn, first vice-president of the club, while the speakers were introduced to the assemblage by President Henr W. Flournoy, who presented Commo wealth's-Attorney Richardson first, and that gentleman was warmly greeted.

Mr. Richardson first expressed his pleaare in being enabled to address the Bryan and Sewall club. He said that Judge Flourney had spoken of him as

MR. D. C. RICHARDSON.

Judge Richardson, and in this contion he told an incident of his introduc tion to Judge Staples while the latter was on the Supreme Court bench. He was presented to the gentleman as "Judge Richardson." Judge Staples said to him: "Judge Richardson, what court are you judge of?" "I replied to him." continued Mr. Richardson, "by saying I am judge of no court but a bob-tail court. I am simply a justice of the peace. I am simply to you, my friends, plain David Crockett Richardson, of the people." (Laughter and ap-

A CONFIRMED DEMOCRAT.

The speaker then referred to his change of views upon the currency ques-tion, saying that some of his newspaper friends had chosen to refer to him as convert to the silver cause. He explained the meaning of the word "converted," which, he said, in a religious sense, meant that a man had been changed from one in the service of the devil to one in the service of the Lord. He added that he had seave been in the service of that he had never been in the service of the political devil—the Republican party; but had rather been "confirmed." He up the platform expounded at Chicago last August. He said that the first charge made in that platform was in that clause which declared against Federal interference and government by injunc-tion, and expressed his hearty endorsement of this part of the platform.

The next count in the indictment, continued Mr. Richardson, was the one which condemned Cleveland for issuing bonds. "I do not know that the language of the platform is exactly to that effect, but if the President was condemned, and served the severest condemnation that could be heaped upon him by an Amerian people. (Great applause.) Mr Richardson went into a brief history of the bond issues of this nation, and then paid his attention to Bolters, who, he said, were headed by the late Democratic Governor of the State of Virginia (Laughter.) He read to the audience certain extracts from Governor O'Ferrall's financial letter which was published in the Richmond Times som weeks ago, and recited the caption, which "The Virginia State Fair." Richardson said he did not know but that some one might have supposed that the farmers were not much interested in anything but agricultural matters. that to head the letter in that way might cause them to read it.

THE COUNTRY'S ONLY HOPE The speaker next took up the currency question, but said he had gone to the poils at the last Democratic primary and voted for gold delegates to be sent to Staunton. The Staunton convention sent a silver delegation to Chicago, and the silver Democrats had the Chicago convention by a two-thirds vote. Democrats adopted their platform, and that became his platform; they nomi-nated their candidate, one of the nobjest sons America ever produced, and William J. Bryan became his candidate, Mr. Richardson discussed the early history of the money of the country, spoke of the contraction of the currency, and asserted that he believed the only salvation of the to 1. (Great applause.) Silver and gold were ordained the current money of this country by our fathers, and, the speaker continued, the whole history of the works showed this to have been the case throughout all time. "If this was good throughout all time. "If this was good for our forefathers, can it not restore prosperity to us now?" he asked. "It has remained for the monopolists and capitalists of this time to say to us that we must have only gold money. Silver, at must have only gold money. Silver, at the proposed ratio, is the only thing on earth which can bring happiness and prosperity to our homes. But the gold-bugs say 'you mustn't say such things as that; you are arraying the masses against the classes. I say that this is not true. They have been arraying the classes against the masses, and it is time for the masses to arise and fight. (Great applayed.) I have the utmost contempt for plause.) I have the utmost contempt for a man who would pile up his money in government bonds and railroad bonds, and lives half of his time in Europe and the other half at some fashionable resort in America, but doesn't pay a cent of taxes; for a man who would sell his own daughter, bone of his bone and flesh of his flesh, for an empty title." (Cheers.) DOWN ON THE TRUSTS.

The speaker made a vigorous ouslaught upon the corporations and trusts of the country. He said he saw in a paper yesterday afternoon a statement mide by a recently distinguished so-called politician, known as Mark Hanna, in which he said known as Mark Hanna, in which he said that there should not be any coercion by any of the corporatiors. "Oh. no; there isn't going to be any coercion," commented Uncle Davy, "but they have a very nice way of getting the employees to vote for William McKinley or have them discharged." The Chesapeake and Ohio railway was spoken of in connection with this matter of coercion, and Mr. Richardson said that while, of course, that com-

At the conclusion of Mr. Richardson's speech there were prolonged calls for Mr. Charles M. Wallace, Jr., the Democratic elector from this district, and that gentleman responded in a graceful little speech, in which he said that, owing to the lateness of the hour, he would not attempt any discussion of the great issues of this canvass, but would simply deliver messages he had brought from the country districts in which he had been. Mr. Wallace said these messages were of the most gratifying character. MR. WALLACE'S SPEECH. were of the most gratifying characte were of the most gratifying chalacter.

"For a long time the white people of this country have held themselves above us negroes, but since Mr. Cleveland wen now we are all on the same plane-all as poor as church mice.'

These words were uttered by John Mitchell, the negro politician of Jackson Ward, last night, in a speech he made from the balcony of Richmond Hall to from the balcony of Richmond Hall to about 29 negroes who cheered him to the echo. The meeting was called by Mitchell in order that he might have a chance to make public his sentiments regarding the Republican leaders in this State, and a brass band, headed by a transparency bearing the words: "Mitchell will speak to-night at Richmond Hall," marched through the streets drumming up the crowd.

John Madison, the negro who aspired to be Mayor of Richmond, was in the crowd, and, with a small following, attempted to break the meeting up, but he was soon squelched, and Mitchell reigned supreme. The Favorites.

Our SUIT and WRAP PARLORS are open for your inspection.

Into them we have brought everything that we think will interest you.

We have followed the fash. ions closely-modelled and made correct counterparts of the best imported creations. You know tailoring is like storekeeping-some know how to do it better than others.

We try to keep the best store-try to find the best tailors-and we are sure we haven't missed the mark.

You are not expected to walk in and buy the first Coat or Cape or Suit you see. We want you to look around-and make comparisons.

You want the most worthmost style-and most exclu. siveness for your money. . It is on these lines we will win, Come and see.
